Bad News from Free State. London, June 12.—Bad news from the Free State oozes out slowly from the war office. The line of communications was cut on Wednesday, the day after Lord Roberts entered Pretoria, but the fact was not admitted until Saturday morning, the truth revealed until yesterday that there had been severe fighting at Roodoal, and that the militia battalion of the Derbyshire regiment and other details had been taken prisoners.

The most reassuring intelligence at Bloemfontein has been that the Boers have been driven out of the city.

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC IN CITY OF LONDON

In Less Than Three Weeks Coroners' Inquests Over 100 Suicides Have Been Held.

London, June 12.—The suicide epidemic which began in Derby week continues, and the increase in the number of cases is far in excess of the corresponding period of any previous years or even the July and August records which are usually the heaviest. In less than three weeks' coroners' inquests have shown undoubted suicide in 100 cases and supposed suicide amounting to another hundred cases.

One coroner held thirty inquests last week and another eighteen. The Thames alone accounts for thirty deaths in three weeks, and the other deaths were traceable to revolvers, poisons and razors. The strange feature of the epidemic is the obscure motive in a large majority of cases.

UNEASY REDSKINS LED BY A PROPHET

LEECH LAKE INDIANS ARE BECOMING DANGEROUS

No Troops at Hand—Destruction of the White Race Was Foretold by the Red Skinned Seer—Many Believed in His Words and Trouble May Ensnare.

Walker, Minn., June 12.—The Dakota Indian affair of a few years ago may be repeated at the Leech Lake agency unless something unexpected transpires during the next few days.

Day-Dah-Quonce, an old resident of Naquassinka, in the Assiniboin country, made a proclamation on June 1 in which he divulged that he had seen the great Messiah in a cloud and was told that the country would be swept by a great storm June 9, with June 11 as the final day of the storm. This storm, he predicted would kill all the white settlers and leave un molested all Indians who believed in the prophecy, to enjoy life.

The tepee of the prophet was soon surrounded by about eighty wigwams, and about 750 Indians who gave credence to his teachings.

Excitement is rampant in the surrounding villages, but no serious harm is anticipated at present.

The Indians look to the elements to exterminate the pale faces, and it is a question if they could be induced to harm one of those whom they believed the great Messiah has chosen to destroy. The agency Indians have not taken part in the meeting or encamped with the believers at Squaw Point. They laugh to scorn the prophet and his teachings.

If there is no uprising it is believed the Indians will kill Day-Dah-Quonce tomorrow when they become convinced by the expiration of the time limit set by the prophet that he has deceived them.

Captain Mercer, the Indian agent, a cool-headed man, has had Day-Dah-Quonce placed under arrest. The remainder of the uprisers were left on the point, and are said to be growing ugly and discontented. A late report says they threaten dire disaster to the inhabitants, and as there are no troops at the agency, the situation is considered alarming.

United States Marshal Grimshaw admits trouble is brewing, but further than this will say nothing.

DEMOCRATS MAY ENDORSE MR. WALL

Indications at Milwaukee Convention Today Point That Way.

ROSE FOR KANSAS CITY

Red Hot Fight Causes the Faithful to Gather Late This Afternoon.

DISTRICT DELEGATES NAMED

Milwaukee, June 12.—[Special Telegram]—The democratic convention, called to elect delegates to Kansas City, met in the Alhambra Theatre at noon. Interest in choice of delegates, however, was overshadowed by a contest between the friends of Timothy Ryan and E. C. Wall, the contest in which the post of national committeeman is at stake.

In the eighth congressional district caucus J. M. Baer of Appleton, and W. W. Crane of Weyauwega were chosen delegates to the national convention, and A. L. Gray of Green Bay and J. J. Pinney of Sturgeon Bay, alternates.

The ninth congressional district caucus chose John Noonan of Oconto, and Julius Thielman of Lincoln, as delegates to the national convention, and John Rader of Ashland and George W. Hill of Langlade, as alternates. Resolutions endorsing the candidacy of D. L. Plumer for delegate at large, were passed.

The seventh congressional district caucus chose for delegates to the national convention W. H. Frawley of Eau Claire and Judge R. B. McCoy of Monroe. For alternates John Lewis of Jackson and J. M. Ferting of Arcadia. The candidacy of C. L. Hood of La Crosse for delegate at large was endorsed.

The second district elected J. E. Malone of Dodge county and Job Miles of Columbia county district delegates to the national convention. H. H. Hoard of Dodge county was named as an alternate. J. M. Clancy of Dane county was elected to the committee on resolutions. George W. Bird of Madison, for delegate-at-large, was presented to the caucus, but secured no formal endorsement from the delegates.

The third district declared for Thomas L. Cleary of Grant county for delegate at large to the Kansas City convention. The Wall-Ryan fight did not enter into this meeting apparently. The fourth district chose Frank Falk and Clinton Burnham.

A motion to use all all honorable means to send D. S. Rose to Kansas City as a delegate at large, was unanimously adopted.

The delegates from the fifth district were pledged to support Ryan to succeed Wall as national committeeman, and Thomas J. Fleming of Wauwatosa for a delegate at large.

The district delegates selected are T. E. Ryan and Mr. Gies.

The sixth district endorsed Dr. G. B. Hildreth of Fond du Lac for delegate at large. N. B. Hoskins of Fond du Lac was elected a district delegate and so was W. F. Nash of Two Rivers.

Resolutions were adopted favoring D. L. Plumer of Wausau, as a delegate-at-large on behalf of northern Wisconsin, and also favoring Geo. Bomerich of Kenosha, as delegate-at-large.

The Convention, after adjournment at noon, did not re-assemble until nearly 3 o'clock this afternoon. There seems to be a general impression that Wall will be endorsed and that Mayor Rose will head the delegation to Kansas City.

Milwaukee, June 12.—The democratic state convention was called to order at 11 o'clock this morning at the Alhambra theater, following the district caucuses held to select district delegates to the national convention at Kansas City. A large number of delegates arrived in the city last night, while others sufficient to swell the total to between 600 and 700 arrived this morning.

Aside from the Wall-Ryan controversy the chief interest in the convention centers in the selection of four delegates-at-large to the Kansas City convention, and the fact that there are at least six names from which four are likely to be selected indicates that contests of rather a lively sort may be looked for when the subject comes up this afternoon.

Routine of Convention

The convention was called to order at the Alhambra at 11 o'clock by State Central Committee Chairman George W. Peck, who introduced Judge James H. McGillan of Green Bay. Following the convention chairman's address and the appointment of committees, the convention adjourned until two o'clock this afternoon when the business of organizing, passing resolutions and electing delegates and alternates to the national convention will be taken up. In addition to naming the four delegates-at-large and their alternates and presidential electors the selection of district delegates will be ratified.

Nominate Peck for Congress

At the convention of the 4th congressional district, held in the arcade of the Plankinton house last evening, ex-Gov. George W. Peck was nominated for congress without opposition. Bryan and the Chicago platform were endorsed.

The democratic state central committee at a meeting last night decided on Aug. 22 for holding the state convention in Milwaukee to nominate a state ticket.

LABOR MEN MEET AT SHEBOYGAN

BADGER FEDERATION OF LABOR IN CONVENTION TODAY.

Mayor Born Welcomes the Visitors—Big Parade Tonight and Open Meeting to Follow—Many Important Questions Will Come Up for Discussion Wednesday and Thursday.

Sheboygan, Wis., June 12.—[Special Telegram]—The state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor began here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The executive committee consisting of Martin Jesko, secretary and treasurer; Henry Fuhr, of Milwaukee; Paul Huebner, of Milwaukee; F. O. Weiss, of Sheboygan, and Frank N. Kitz, of Oshkosh, have been busy for several days completing the arrangements.

Delegates from Milwaukee, West Superior, Oshkosh and other Badger cities arrived on morning trains. Mayor Born delivered an address and the reports of the general organizer and general treasurer-secretary was heard.

This evening there will be a big parade, in which the delegates and all of the unions of the city will participate. There will be nearly 2,000 men in line besides three brass bands—the Second Regiment Volunteer, Schmidt's military and Ibb's bands. Following the parade there will be a picnic at Born's park, where addresses will be delivered by the delegates.

On Wednesday and Thursday the convention will get down to business, when there will be debates on questions relative to state laws, among which will be the following subjects: Child labor, union labor, prison labor, factory inspection, strikes and boycotts. Some interesting discussions are promised on these subjects.

GOV. SCOFIELD MAY BE A CANDIDATE

Senator Spooner Says Wisconsin Delegation Will Back the Executive For Vice President.

New York, June 12.—Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin was seen by a reporter yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria and expressed the opinion that the state would undoubtedly give a large majority to President McKinley.

Regarding the vice presidency, Senator Spooner said that the delegates from Wisconsin would probably present the name of Governor Edward Scofield, who had been an able governor, was now serving his second term and had a magnificent record as a soldier.

"When the civil war broke out General Scofield went to the war from a printing office in Pennsylvania, and fought his way up to the rank of major. He fought in many battles with gallantry and rendered heroic service at Gettysburg after his term had expired."

CRISIS IN CHINA IS APPROACHING

Foreign Troops Expect to Reach City of Peking Tomorrow.

RUSSIA IS IN THE LEAD

Conflict With Boxers Is Confidently Expected as Soon as Foreigners Arrive.

THE POWERS ARE IN ACCORD

Tien-Tsin, June 12.—[Special Cablegram]—The British marines have opened the railway line as far as Lang Fang. It is believed they will reach Peking tomorrow but not before the coming conflict with the boxers. Four hundred Russians have joined the Britishers and more are landing. The natives continue to flee toward Shanghai in great numbers. Situation Very Serious.

Washington, June 12.—[Special Telegram]—The situation in China is regarded here as being so serious that every marine that can be spared from the vessels in the far east will be ordered to the assistance of the squadron in Chinese waters.

Appeal By the Emperor.

London, June 12.—Huang Hau, the figurehead emperor of China, wants to rule his country as a protectorate under the dominating influence of the foreign powers. He is plotting the overthrow of the dowager empress and her entire government, and proposes to transfer the capital of the empire from Peking to Nanking, Wuchong or Shanghai. Moreover, Huang Hau appeals to the powers of the west to enter the palace of the empress dowager at Peking and break down the bars that hold him prisoner while the Boxers destroy property and lives of natives and mistreat those of foreigners. He urges that the powers seize his person and bear him to the capital, surround him with their own soldiers and place him on a new throne, whence he will dispense authority in the interest of progress.

The force of over 2,000 marines which left Tien Tsin on Sunday and yesterday in three trains is believed to have reached the capital in safety.

Takes Off the Mask.

The presence of this force was urgently needed, for the dowager empress has dropped all pretense and is in open sympathy with the enemies of the missionaries and foreigners, and all the mission property at Peking is menaced with the fate of the American station at Tung-Chan, where the buildings have been destroyed and the native Christians murdered by the soldiers commissioned to protect them.

It is the story of Armenia repeated in Peking. All christian converts and foreigners at the capital are at the mercy of the mobs as well as the regular soldiers, unless marines from thirty one ships of war can protect them.

Powers are in Accord

A reassuring feature of the situation is apparent in the heartiness with which the great powers are co-operating in a determined effort to protect foreign interests in China. The United States government is accepting its responsibility for the lives and property of Americans, and even the minor states like Denmark are adopting protective measures.

RUSH TO QUAKER CITY

Visitors and Delegates Are Pouring in for the Republican National Convention.

Philadelphia, June 12.—[Special Telegram]—The influx of delegates and visitors to the republican national convention is now on in earnest. A large corps of newspapermen are already here. The men and boys who will act as ushers in the hall are receiving instructions today.

Tomorrow the national committee meets. A full representation is expected. A discussion of the contested seats is like to consume most of the time. Half an hour will be given to each case and the list is so long it will probably last until Wednesday night. The whole state of Alabama is contested, three quarters of Louisiana and a part of Texas. The old Addicks-Higgins fight in Delaware will come up again and the Clay-Evans and Brownlow factions of Tennessee will have a hearing.

S. B. SMITH and wife and F. M. Marzuff and wife form a jolly party that left this morning for a few days' outing on the shores of Lake Kegonsa, near Stoughton.

THE NEWS FROM COUNTY TOWNS

THE GAZETTE AGENCY
W. W. CLARK, Manager
Milwaukee, Wis., June 12, 1900.

The board of supervisors have changed the election precinct lines in this township which were established many years ago, and taken a goodly number of voters of this precinct and placed them in the Milton Junction election district. The lines as originally established divided the town equally by a line running due north and south and for several years a few individuals have been trying to induce the board to change the boundaries but until now have failed to accomplish their desire. There is considerable feeling here over the change and the fact that no opportunity was given the voters in precinct No. 2 to present their objections to the readjustment of the election precincts, does not strike those interested as either just or wise. The board made a mistake in that particular in our judgment.

Smart Set For June

There is a breeziness about the June number of The Smart Set that makes the "magazine of cleverness" doubly welcome at this season. Its editor might with impunity offer a handsome reward to any reader who will find a stupid sentence in all the 160 pages. Beginning with the first story, a novellette by Louise Winter entitled "Hearts Afame," the number is a pyrotechnic literary display by the brightest writers of the times. "Hearts Afame" exposes the very inner life of New York society while telling an absorbing story of the reconstruction of a woman's reputation by her friend and champion, a leader of the fashionable world, who herself is beset by temptation. Edgar Fawcett contributes "Bayard Benelov," a startling chronicle of the life of the world's most discussed and interesting multi-millionaire; Mrs. Reginald de Koven, in her story, "The Saving Revelation," has far surpassed all her previous literary efforts; the tale of "Pascal and Morand" by John Reginald Ellyson, has a grace, a charm and an originality now recognized as characteristic of all the work of this author; "The Noose Matrimonial" is a scintillating story by Edgar Saitus, whose cleverness is rivaled by Guy Somerville in "The Soprano on the Links" an amusing narrative of an English Ambassador's sentimental adventures in Washington; and there is a story of "An Evesham Finish," by Martha McCulloch-Williams, that will interest every lover of racing.

PLEASURE EVENTS DURING THE DAY

Two Picnics Were the Means of Attracting Many—One at Crystal Springs Park by Baptists.

Two pleasure events of local interest were today the means of attracting many from the city.

At Crystal Springs Park took place the annual picnic of the Baptist church. The first boat left the city at 10 o'clock this morning, and carried a goodly number of passengers, each being supplied with a well filled basket. The boat made other trips during the afternoon. At the park one did not need to be told that all were having a good time. At different locations on the grounds booths had been erected, and at these many articles were placed on sale and disposed of readily. Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society a picnic dinner was served at 1 o'clock.

At three o'clock a good program of sports was in order. This evening the Sunday school orchestra will be present to furnish music for the moonlight ride Loan Band Picnic.

At the Magnolia avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Randall the members of the Loara band of the Congregational church held a most pleasant gathering this afternoon that was in the nature of a picnic. After one o'clock a carryall met all the street cars. Many were in attendance during the afternoon. At three o'clock a well arranged program took place. This evening a picnic supper will be served.

PLAY ON THE GOLF LINKS

First Day's Match Play for Richardson Trophy Today

The golf contest for the Richardson trophy, which takes place this afternoon on the Buckleton Links, bids fair to be one of the closest contests of the season. The match will be followed by a picnic supper, but on account of the High school party, there will be no dances during the evening.

The highway committee after considering the petition of E. Cone relative to the ordinance now in force governing the use of the streets by him and other persons engaged in the business of house moving, recommended that the same be tabled.

The property owners, manufacturers and tax payers, occupying the roadway north of the post office presented a petition, asking the council to provide better fire protection and to have a water main laid from Milwaukee street on the race embankment to the property of the Blodgett Milling Co.

On motion of Ald. Kothman an order was adopted authorizing the fire and water committee to furnish such fire protection as was deemed necessary.

The resolutions adopted at a meeting of the council on the 12th day of March, 1900, ordering the grading and macadamizing of Court street, from the easterly side of Court street bridge to intersection of Ruger avenue and Vernon street, was amended by limiting said improvement from the bridge to the easterly side of Harrison street.

The claim of Mrs. Marion L. Stoddard for $5,000 damages, was referred to the judiciary committee, who asked for further time to consider.

The highway committee reported favorably on the street commissioner's report of sidewalks repaired in the Third ward, and ordered the same charged on the tax roll of property so repaired.

The bond of the Janesville Electric company, required by their contract with the city, was reported in due form and sufficient sureties, was accepted and placed on file.

City Marshal John W. Hogan was directed to enforce the ordinance prohibiting the blocking of crossings by railroad trains for more than five minutes, and to serve notice on the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. to put plank between their tracks on North River street.

An invitation from the mayor and city council of Superior, to attend the state G. A. R. encampment June 19-21, was received and placed on file.

ADVICE—MASCULINE.

While Cupid sways this mundane sphere
And men are only human,
She is most wise who won't appear
Too reasonable a woman.

Alack that fate ordained it so!
'Tis passing melancholy;
But naught that reason's ear can show
Is half so sweet as folly.

In errant whims some witchcraft lies
That logic ever misses,
And common sense looks plain to eyes
That seek capricious blisses.

While unto every lover's fire
It adds a wealth of fuel,
If she who doth his love inspire
Is sometimes rather cruel.

Know what you will, meedlames, but know
The acme of all knowledge
Is tact, albeit we cannot show
Its chair in any college.

Keep some small follies—for I deem You're not them, being human—
And so be what you do not seem—
A reasonable woman.

A TROOPER'S SECRET

It Was Only Revealed After
He Had Fallen.

Copyright, 1900, by Ervin Wardman.

Maybe you have served in the ranks and know all about it; but, if not, let me tell you that war develops strange things in men. In a company of 100 men you will find more love, romance and sorrow than you would hear of among 1,000 men at home. It was a comrade's pleasure and duty to share these things with a comrade. At home a man would not have talked of his love, his hopes and fears even to a brother. Down there in the enemy's country, in hut or tent or lying under the same blanket after the day's fight or march, men turned to man and whispered his secrets. It was because we marched together, fought together, ate together and the shadow of death covered us all alike.

You like a man who has shared your hardships; you love him when he has shared your dangers. So it was that one might sit down with the company roster before him and tell of those who had left wives behind them, and those who had left sweethearts, and those who had found correspondents and were mingling romance with war.

It was known, as if it were a family matter, that the orderly sergeant's wife had died since he left home, leaving four children motherless; that Private Hayes had quarreled with his sweetheart; that Corporal Johnson's farm was going to rack and ruin since he enlisted. We heard these things and a thousand others, and we stood always ready to congratulate or sympathize with each other. I have known the big sergeant to come rushing into a winter hut occupied by six men and wake them all up that he might read a letter from home telling that the baby actually had taken three whole steps all by himself. We were men as to war, women as to gossip, children as to trifles.

It was so with all of Company G except in one single instance. Trooper Haskins was a stranger among us when he enlisted. He continued to be a stranger to his last hour. When we sized him up, as men size up each other, we knew that he had some secret in his life which he did not care to lay bare to the world. One could see by the stoop of his shoulders, by the look in his eyes and by the wrinkles on his face that he had been hard hit and would suffer to the end.

As men we respected his secret and praised his courage in bearing up under his sorrows, but as soldiers we felt that his lack of confidence in us was an imputation. We stood ready to condole and sympathize, but he kept us at arm's length. We felt sorry for him at first that he received no letters—that there was not one single person in all the world to write a word of cheer—but his careless indifference soon provoked our indignation. We gave each other the gossip of country and village as we marched; we read each other's letters as we smoked at the campfire; we whispered our confidences in the darkness—all except Private Haskins. He had no friend. He had a comrade, but only in the sense that he shared the same fly tent and the same rations. When the comrade had failed to discover whether Haskins was married or single, divorced or a bachelor, a man who had been deeply wronged or a cynic—when he could get nothing whatever from him as to his past—he turned away from him and said to us:

"Boys, I can't make him out, and I'm not going to try any further. If he don't want to be one of us, let him slide."

We got down on Private Haskins to the extent that he was socially outlawed. That meant more than I can explain to you. We gave him credit for his soldierly qualities—and it was useless to deny that he was a brave man—but he was forced to live alone, as it were, in the midst of thousands. He noted every move made against him, and many of them must have hurt his feelings and added to his burdens, but no one ever heard him complain. I believe he secretly was glad of his isolation. It gave him time to think and meditate, and he would do this by the hour. We didn't misjudge the man, I am glad to recall, but we simply ostracized him in a social way, just as society crowds out the man who tramples on the conventionalities. On his part he must have felt that no words of sympathy from us could have made his case better, or he would have "chummed up" and been one of us.

By and by, after two or three battles, strange whispers were circulated about regarding Private Haskins. He courted death. He had gone down into the fray with shut teeth and dashing eyes and taken such chances that he was called a devil on one hand and a fool on the other.

Men who watched him closely denied that he was looking for promotion or a record. He was seeking to end it all on the battlefield. There was nothing more in life for him, and it would be better to die with saber in hand than to snuff out his own life like a coward. Our respect for the man increased, but yet he was still outlawed and we still carried a feeling of resentment against him.

One day, in the depths of the forest, while winter still held its grip on the land, I came across him lying at full length on the ground. He was moaning and weeping. For ten minutes he sobbed as a man does only when some great sorrow has wasted his strength, turned back his years and taken him back to childhood. Awe and frightened and wondering, I crept silently away and left him with his grief. Two hours later I met him to find that he had conquered himself. It seemed as if there was a new line of care in his face and that there was a new touch of silver in his hair, but he was not to betray his secret. He did not know that his struggle had been witnessed, and I was dumb as to what I had seen.

A week later Troop G was sent out on a scout and rode into a tight place. It was reported that all of us did our duty in the half hour's hot fighting, but there was only one hero. Even with the pistols flashing and the sabers whirling I watched Private Haskins as he waved his saber on high and thundered into the thick of the melee. He fought to kill and be killed, but death passed him by.

We whispered to each other that he was a hero, deserving of a medal of gold, and we esteemed and exalted him, but the circle did not open to let him in. He was not of us—he had not been for a year—and no act of his in battle could make him so. He knew it as well as we did, and he made no advance. He had our respect and admiration in the fullest, but he did not have and did not wish for our comradeship and sympathy. We knew that there are things which must be buried in the human bosom forever and ever, no matter what the cost, but yet we resented it when our sympathy was refused.

It was two weeks after our fight when I was detailed on vedette duty with Private Haskins. We were to take the post together. In the winter camp behind us there was the hum of preparation for the spring campaign. In the quarters of the enemy, a dozen miles away, there was the same excitement. We rode to a post on the highway and dismounted under a tree. I remember that the sun shone warm, the buds were starting, and here and there a robin was raising his glad song. Little was said between us, and by and by Private Haskins fell into one of his moods.

From the corner of my eye I watched his pipe puff at longer intervals until it finally died out. He looked straight ahead of him across the field or the wall as his ears drank in the notes of the birds. He forgot that I was near. His thoughts went back to the old grief, and I saw the changes in his soul written on his face. There were joy and gladness; there were grief and pain; there were wavering and determination. At the end of a quarter of an hour he suddenly sobbed in his throat. Then he rose up and started across the field toward the wall.

"What is it, Haskins? What do you see? Hold on!" I called to him, but he never halted or turned his head.

"Come back!" I called. "A sharp-shooter may be hiding behind the wall! Come back!"

I heard him gasping and sobbing as he pushed forward. I would have run after him and caught him, as one might a somnambulist who was approaching the edge of a precipice, but just then our horses reared and snorted and required my strongest efforts to prevent them from breaking away. When I could look around, the man was nearly at the wall. I was about to shout at him again, when he stopped, threw up his arms and sank down, and he was lying on his back on the frostbitten grass before I heard the report of the rifle which had slain him. Then a squad of cavalry dashed out and tried to capture me, and I went thundering up the road toward the reserve picket with bullets singing louder than the robins.

Half an hour later I was back with a squadron. We charged past the dead man on the grass and up to the stone wall, but no one was in sight. All that we saw was the peaceful farmhouse beyond; all that we heard were the voices of the birds.

The enemy had been to view the man they had slain. From one of his pockets, in searching for what might be worth carrying away, they had taken an old letter—a letter dated years before and in a woman's hand. They had read it, or at least a few lines of it. Then they had spread it out on his breast and left him with body unsearched, perhaps lifting their hats in reverence as they turned to ride away.

We saw the letter and lifted it up and realized that therein was the trooper's secret.

"Let no man read it!" commanded the captain. "It belonged to him. He is dead." And, holding it aloft in his hand, he touched the letter with a lighted match, and as the paper shriveled and curled and became ashes, to be carried away by the breeze, we uncovered our heads and said:

"It was his secret—his and God's!"—New York Press.

First of Klondike's Fleet.

Seattle, Wash., June 12.—About $300,000 worth of Klondike gold, the first consignment of the season of 1900, came yesterday via the steamer City of Seattle, a Lynn canal liner. The vessel arrived at 2 o'clock in the morning with 225 passengers, about 165 of whom are from the Klondike. They are the first crowd of miners from that district to reach Seattle since the opening of navigation. Col. Joseph Green of Seattle, formerly an officer in the state militia, returned after a two years' absence with a cash fortune of $50,000. Col. Green estimates this season's Klondike clean-up at $25,000,000. He says it would be much larger but for the scarcity of water for sluicing purposes.

Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only They're for sick kidneys.

They cure every kidney backache.

Here is Janesville evidence to prove it:

Mrs. S. L. Beaden, of 64 S. River St., says: "During two or three years I suffered most of the time with a terrible dragging down pain in my back just over the kidneys. It was very trying when I was at work, and if I did any lifting my bladder became affected, causing me considerable annoyance. I also had attacks of headaches, which seemed like congestion in the top and back of my head. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills I did not have any too much confidence in them, but my daughter got a box at the People's Drug Co.'s store and persuaded me to use them. They took right hold and made a wonderful change in my condition. I hardly realized how bad I was until Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief from the afflictions."

YOU remember the old lady who rode for the first time on a railway train. There was a frightful collision, but when the rescuers reached her she was quite calm. THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1452—James III of Scotland killed near Bannockburn, in Stirlingshire.
1525—Harriet Martineau, author and noted agnostic, born in Norwich, England; died 1876.
1806—John Augustus Roebling, designer and first chief engineer of the Brooklyn bridge, born at Muhlenberg, Prussia; died 1869.
1861—Entry of Maximilian and Harriet Martineau Carotta into the City of Mexico. Apparently the best elements of Mexican society welcomed the new emperor. His journey to the capital was an ovation, and he supposed that he was to be a Moses to the wandering people. But the people were disturbed by the factions which did not unite to support Maximilian or oppose his plotting. The mask soon fell, and the unfortunate prince and his consort discovered when it was too late that they had blindly walked into a trap.

WHY BUCK AGAINST BUCKLEY?

What's the matter with the Janesville democracy?

Why doesn't it enthuse?

Some weeks ago The Gazette suggested to the gentlemen of the opposition the idea of nominating the Hon. Clinton Babbitt, of Beloit, for vice president. Yet the name of the Line City statesman elicited no applause. The rattle of the gladhand was not heard, and the buzzes of the multitude were unborn. Why? We give it up. Surpassing sad is the story. The local triangle spoke not a word, and the Beloit statesman received no support except from one Milwaukee populist paper. Let us draw the veil.

And then a new sun arose.

The Hon. Cornelius Buckley, also of Beloit—he of the plug hat, the classic brow, and the dyed-in-the-wool Bryan democracy—came to the surface and seized the ship. He drove the Janesville triangle from the quarter deck, and locked it in the hold. He hauled up the Bryan flag and while the Janesville bosses listened to the swash of the bile water in the regions below, Buckley was on the bridge drawing resolutions to force down the throats of the ex-managers. Dewey's victory was pale, hollow and insignificant when contrasted with the success won by the Hon. Buckley, and even the great Napoleon was made to look like counterfeit money, canned goods, two bits, a selling plaster, and other things. Such are the achievements of The Hon. Plug Hat.

Boss Buckley, clearly, is entitled to recognition, and although The Gazette is of republican faith, it sees in Boss Buckley the only real democratic leader that Rock county democracy has had since the big wind blew. The plug hat of the Beloiters stands head and shoulders above them all. He's a general, and a genius.

Therefore, The Gazette suggested to its democratic "friends, Romans and fellow citizens," the advisability of the nomination of The Hon. Buckley of Beloit, for vice president. Was the suggestion received with glad acclaim? Was The Hon. Plug Hat cheered? No—said to relate. No. It met with armed resistance, sullen opposition, and pyrotechnic profanity. No voice was raised in the shout "the king is dead, long live the king," but the boys hid themselves to the workshop and set the griststone abuzz that they might edge up their meat axes.

And yet, Buckley is, so to speak, "the whole money, the ready cash with the large saw bucks on it." Green eyed jealousy may consume the local ex-managers, but they can't consume Buckley. Sooner or later they must bend the humble knee.

Then why not now?

Bryan and Buckley sounds like "the genuine article."

What's the matter with the Janesville democracy?

Why doesn't it enthuse?

SPOONER AT THE HEAD

The Boston Herald, in the course of a lengthy editorial, pays Senator John C. Spooner this pretty compliment:

Senator Spooner made what is nearer being a great speech in the Philippine discussion last week than anything on the administration side that had preceded it in the debate. It rebukes with Senator Hoar's the disadvantage of being too long for the widest reading.

The speech is a strong one, the strongest that has come from the administration side of the senate. It skillfully avoids all the mistakes in arguments that have been made in those which have preceded it on the same subject, and it is well pointed and answers most of the important points made by the opposition. It confirms the opinion we have previously expressed that Senator Spooner is the coming man in point of ability in the Republican ranks.

As The Herald says, "Senator Spooner is the coming man in the point of ability in the Republican ranks"—a fact that Wisconsin people fully appreciate. Eastern newspapers team with complimentary notices of the eloquent Badger statesman's achievements, and no member of the "upper house" is better known or more universally esteemed.

In one day this week five Janesville women married men who live in other places, and the local paper dwells on the great happiness that awaits them. It is not the first time a woman has married for a home, but to get a home away from Janesville, seems to be in the nature of an epidemic.—Madison Journal.

Possibly. But it will be noted that none of the women mentioned moved to Madison.

The Federation of Women's clubs refused to admit a colored woman to membership, yet all the members, probably, are more or less interested in "sending red flannel shirts to the keathen natives of Africa." Charity evidently doesn't begin at home with the club women.

The St. Louis war is costing about as many lives as the war in the Philippines, yet Edward Atkinson is silent, and Senator Hoar speaks not.

A Milwaukee "personal item"—Frank Grabowski is the son of John Grabowski, a tanner who lives at 863 Sobieski street.

The Federation of Woman's Clubs and The Hon. John L. Sullivan stand solidly together when the color line is drawn.

The Janesville democrats are now singing a new song—"I guess I'll have to telegraph my Hon. Plug Hat."

CROSSING MADE WITHOUT TROUBLE

Twelve Men Did a Job Yesterday That Two Hundred Could Not Do
Some Time Ago.

Twelve section men on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad in a short space of time yesterday completed a job of track laying that some months ago was the means of causing all kinds of excitement in this city between officials of the two local competing roads.

At the intersection of River and Wall streets these twelve men laid Northwestern tracks over the Milwaukee road tracks. This was done in order that the Northwestern could reach the mill of the Blodgett Milling company.

Not a representative of the Milwaukee road was around when the crossing was made. It was at this point that the trouble took place when two hundred men on both roads blocked things for several days. And this trouble was all on account of the Northwestern road trying to cross the Milwaukee road tracks. But since that time peace terms have been agreed on by the two roads.

Anniversary of Col. Crawford's Burning by Indians in Ohio.

Upper Sandusky, O., June 12.—The pioneers of this vicinity today gathered at the village of Crawford, north of this city, and with appropriate exercises commemorated the anniversary of the historic burning of Col. Crawford by the Indians. The terrible tragedy took place 118 years ago on the spot where today's reunion was held.

Col. Crawford was an intimate friend of George Washington and a prominent figure in the American revolutionary war. In 1782, when the Indians of these parts were massacring the unprotected white settlers and the latter had made a call for military protection, an expedition was organized in Pennsylvania and placed under the command of Col. Crawford. June 4 the expedition reached Wyandottown, a few miles southeast of here, but not an Indian was to be seen. The command proceeded to this place and continued two miles north, where the following day the memorable battle of Battle Island occurred. After the fight it was found that Col. Crawford, Dr. Knight and John Slover, one of the guides, were missing. June 11 Col. Crawford was found tortured and burned at the stake. Dr. Knight, who was an eye witness, and was to undergo the same death the following day, managed to escape.

The pocket book and valuable papers stolen from L. E. Knipp's safe at the time of the robbery last week, was picked up by a boy named O'Donnell, near the Evansville Cut-off, about a block from the scene of the robbery. Mr. Knipp is very much pleased over the recovery of his papers, as they were of much value to him, and he had already offered a reward of $25 for the recovery of the same.

Giants Defeat the Union

The Cuban Giants yesterday defeated the Chicago Union in a hotly contested game of ball at Athletic park by a score of 8 to 5. The errors of the Giants' right fielder was largely responsible for several of the runs scored by the Union. Although it was not what could be called a star game it was very interesting.

FIRST BUILDING HAS BEEN REMOVED

Preparations Are Under Way for Clearing the Site for the New Federal Building.

This morning was commenced the work of clearing the lots on South Franklin street where the handsome United States Federal government building is to be erected.

The first building moved from its foundation was a frame carpenter shop, the property of Garbutt Brothers of this city. This building is being moved to the vacant property at the corner of Jackson and Wall streets.

The buildings on the government lot are for the greater part one-story frame structures, and their removal will be brought about without much of an effort. Just when Uncle Sam intends to commence the work of laying the foundation for the Federal building is a question that no one in this vicinity seems capable of answering.

REQUEST THAT FLAG DAY BE OBSERVED

Mayor Richardson Receives a Communication From Wisconsin Society of Sons of American Revolution.

Thursday, the fourteenth day of June is flag day, and in the city of Janesville the occasion will be observed by the display of Old Glory from the flag staffs of all the public buildings. This morning Mayor Richardson received the following communication from Milwaukee coming from the Wisconsin Society of the Sons of the American Revolution: "Thursday, the fourteenth day of June, is flag day, being the anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as our flag. The Sons of the American Revolution have heretofore been successful in securing the public recognition of this day, and appeal to your patriotism and civil pride in asking the co-operation of your honor and the city council in calling public attention to the day in your city and vicinity. The observance especially desired is to have the stars and stripes prominently displayed Thursday next, 14th inst., in every appropriate place, and especially on all public buildings."

CON. BUCKLEY IS DICTATOR

Beloit Lawyer In Absolute
Control of Rock Co. Democratic Machinery

LOCAL MEN ROUTED

They Favored E. C. Wall for Committeeman, But Buckley Won the Day.

LOCAL COMBINATION SMASHED

There's a new band at the helm of the democratic ship in Rock county, and Cornelius Buckley, the well known Beloit lawyer, is now the admiral in command of the fleet.

Mr. Buckley won the distinction of being "the boss" in a fairly conducted and hard fought battle.

For many years past the democratic campaigns have been managed by Janesville men, and Beloit democrats were not allowed to sit at the council fires except as spectators. Mr. Buckley, along with the others, was told that his services were not needed except to carry out the orders given him. Buckley didn't like the management, but he had to "take his medicine." Janesville delegates jumped on him every time he seemed to have anything to do with the proceedings at the various conventions and Buckley had to take hard knocks. The Janesville men ruled with a hand of iron, and brooked no opposition. Things stood this way until the last democratic county convention was held. In the meantime, Mr. Buckley had been laying his plans. He is a Bryan man, a free silverite, and an anti-Will enthusiast.

Cleaned Them All Out

The Janesville crowd favored Mr. Wall, and were lukewarm on Bryan and Silver. It is an open secret that the Janesville leaders would prefer the retirement of Bryan and all he represents. Therefore Mr. Buckley felt that the time had come to scatter the anti-Bryan forces, and line up Rock county for the Nebraska man and his policies. The Janesville leaders thought they would handle this convention as easily as they had handled all the others, but in this they figured without their host. Mr. Buckley came up from Beloit with a delegation, and well formed plans. He scattered the members of the Janesville Triangle like chaff before a gale, and at once took command of the convention. Efforts to convert him were unavailing, and everything went as the Beloit lawyer said. His rule was absolute, and from this time on, Cornelius Buckley, of Beloit, is the ruling spirit in Rock county democracy. He will dictate the formation of the county ticket, and his word will be law in all things. He has earned his right to leadership, and although the old time managers may gnash their teeth, they must bow to Mr. Buckley. They were whipped in a fair fight, and must submit to the inevitable, whether they like it or not.

Wall is Turned Down

The Janesville crowd, it is said, favored the retention of Edward C. Wall as the Wisconsin member of the Wisconsin National Democratic committee. It was but natural that this should be the case. Mr. Wall was instrumental in giving Rock county democrats all the loaves and fishes they had ever received. Postmasters, assistant postmasters, private secretaries, adjutant generals, assistant secretaries of war, fish commissioners, oil inspectors, and other officials, large and small, had been picked from Rock county democracy's ranks, and it goes without saying that such things could not have been if Committee man Wall had not so decreed. The Janesville crowd represented these interests, and were in favor of Mr. Wall. They didn't care for Bryan or his policies, but they were interested in Wall.

Buckley was not concerned in the loaves and fishes matter. He had not been favored in that line, and he didn't care a whit about the past. He represents the democracy of today, and all that it stands for.

Ryan Gets Support

Buckley represented the crowd that wanted Wall's scalp. It was charged that Mr. Wall was a gold man and not a Bryanite. The anti-Wall men had settled on T. E. Ryan, of Waukesha, as their candidate for national committeeman, and the fight was hot. Of course Mr. Wall's friends expected that he could carry Rock county, but Buckley's resolution endorsing Ryan was passed with a whoop, and the Janesville backers of the present committeeman had to eat crow. Their downfall was a great surprise to them, and they were greatly chagrined, but Buckley had the whip and he wielded it to advantage. The convention went squarely on record for Bryan, free silver, and T. E. Ryan, despite all that could be done.

About Mr. Buckley

Mr. Buckley, the new boss, has resided in Beloit for many years. He is a lawyer by profession, and enjoys a lucrative practice. He frequently visits Janesville, and is well known here. He is tall, somewhat stoop shouldered, and generally wears a silk hat and a Prince Albert coat. He is a ready speaker, and quick to see a point of advantage. He has always taken an interest in politics, and his devotion to the cause of democracy is proverbial. He was never known to bolt the ticket, but sticks to the party come what will. Democracy is not held to be a cardinal virtue in Beloit, as

The Line City gives a republican majority of about 1,000, but Mr. Buckley has always kept his fences in repair, and the Beloit democracy has been solidly behind him.

"Keeping everlastingly at it brings success," as Mr. Buckley's recent victory shows, and he will doubtless retain his present position as dictator in Rock county as long as he follows the line of work that enabled him to route the Janesville managers, and nail the names of Bryan and Ryan to the Rock county democratic mast.

ELECTRIC ROAD CAPITALISTS HERE

PARTIES FROM OHIO HAVE BEEN IN THE CITY.

They Believe That Such a Line Running From Janesville to Rockford Would in Time Prove a Paying Investment—May Soon Decide to Ask for Franchise.

Business men interested in the construction of an electric railroad extending from the city of Rockford, Illinois to Janesville via Beloit have been in the Bower city this week looking over the ground. It is said that before long the Janesville city council will be asked to grant the proposed new road permission to enter the city. The proposed road is said to be more than mere talk this time. The estimated cost is placed at $100,000.

The men who comprise the party are mostly from Ohio. One of their number went through this section recently and saw that a line between Rockford and Janesville with possible branches east and west from Beloit would be a big paying investment. He so reported to the others interested with him and the visit to Wisconsin is the outcome. The names of the projectors are:

H. H. Clough, Ralph Hill, G. J. Smith, Henry Wurst, E. E. Barch, G. H. Kile, F. K. Foster, W. G. Sharp and Wm. Heldemeyer, all of Elroy, Ohio; O. Dole, Detroit, Mich.; Tom Clark, Beecher, Ill.; C. M. Oviatt, Cleveland, Ohio; Henry Ludwig, Amherst, O.

BENNETT-LUBY CASE BEFORE A REFEREE

Rufus B. Smith Asks the Defendant's Counsel to Draw Up Findings Favoring Mr. Luby.

In the matter of Chester C. Bennett, plaintiff vs. D. J. Luby, defendant, as argued before Rufus B. Smith of Madison, the referee, after a careful review of the testimony and hearing the arguments of counsel, asked that Mr. Luby's attorneys draw up findings on the line that the referee indicated. In the course of his instructions to the attorneys, Referee Smith spoke, in part, as follows: "I find, as a matter of fact, that Mr. Luby did not take from the store, or from the business, any money or property, surreptitiously or clandestinely with a view of appropriating it to his own use, or with a view to wronging his partner."

After passing on the other phases of the case, Referee Smith said:

"I therefore find that the settlement made in the store between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Luby must be disregarded, and whatever Mr. Bennett received in consequence of that settlement, he must give up—it must be restored to Mr. Luby; that the note which is in the possession of the court, be adjudged cancelled; that the charge of $250 upon the journal must also be cancelled, and that Mr. Luby must have from Mr. Bennett $200 with interest since the date of that settlement, and if it cannot be obtained from Mr. Bennett, then he must have out of the assets of this firm $400—it will be necessary if he gets it out of the assets of the firm to make him double the amount to make him good."

In conclusion Mr. Smith said:

"Now, I will invite the defendant's counsel to prepare the formal findings along these lines and if there is any fact concerning which I ought to express an opinion, I will receive any suggestions from either of the counsel."

It therefore appears that Referee Smith's decision will be in favor of Mr. Luby as his formal report, will, of course, be drawn along the lines laid down above. The formal findings will be reported to the circuit court of Dane county, but they will not be filed, probably for some weeks. They are subject to confirmation by the court, and, if desired, an appeal can be taken therefrom.

TO CELEBRATE THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Money in Abundance Has Been Promised—Meeting Will be Called to Decide Matter

The financial part of the Fourth of July celebration is an assured success. George E. King and George D. Simpson made a canvass of the city yesterday and Amos Rehberg and W. W. Emmons today. Enough money has been subscribed to make the gentlemen that have it in charge feel that the money question is practically settled. In all probability a meeting will be called for tomorrow evening to discuss the best plans, and appoint committees to take charge of the work. A celebration of the kind proposed for the Fourth necessarily entails a large amount of work. With good weather there is no reason why Janesville should not have the grandest celebration in its history.

Mayor Calls a Meeting

To the Citizens of Janesville:—A meeting will be held at the council chamber tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to consider the celebration of the coming Fourth of July in proper and patriotic style. There seems to be a general desire for such a celebration in Janesville this year. Businessmen and citizens are invited to be present. If we celebrate we want to do it in a way befitting the Bower City and proper arrangements must be made to entertain the great crowd that will certainly be present.

VICTOR P. RICHMONDSON, Mayor.

ONE ENUMERATOR HAS FINISHED WORK

A. E. Tanberg Completes Taking the Government Census of the Second Precinct or the Third Ward.

A. E. Tanberg, is the first enumerator in the city of Janesville to finish his task of taking the local government census. Mr. Tanberg's district covered the second precinct of the Third ward. The work of taking the census in this precinct was far from being an unpleasant task. The residents were very prompt in answering all questions and they did it in a most pleasing way.

Other Wards Different.

Enumerators in the other wards of the city have not found things quite so pleasant. Especially is this true in the boarding house and hotel districts where sometimes as many as a dozen trips have been made in order to reach a single person.

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL GOSSIP

THREE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN THE PRISONER.

Appeared in Court This Morning and Before the Bar of Justice He Told His Troubles—Denied That He Stole Other Articles as Alleged by Officers.

Jacob Friend appeared in the Rock county municipal court this morning and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of larceny, on the night of June, of a bicycle from the barn of Thomas King on Locust street.

The court then sentenced Friend to three years in the state prison at Wau-pun from twelve o'clock noon of this day. When the case was called at ten thirty o'clock this morning the court room was well filled with spectators. Friend appeared in court accompanied by Sheriff Appleby. Before the case was called the prisoner asked for a private interview with Judge Fifield and District Attorney Jackson. His request was granted. When asked by the court if he had anything to say before sentence was passed Friend in a low tone of voice stated that he was guilty.

Tried to Get Work

He said that he had tried to get work in this city but that there was no work to be had. His eye sight was poor, he said, and his hand was injured. He said that he was not a bad man and that he had witnesses in court who would testify to this fact. His age he gave as fifty years and his birthplace as Switzerland. He alleges that he was never before arrested.

He Is Sharply Questioned.

District Attorney Jackson then questioned Friend as to how he happened to be in possession of so many articles as found in his humble home on Jefferson street. The three bicycles found in one of the rooms the prisoner stated that these wheels he purchased of Al Smith, Dave Brown and Mr. Lewis. The fruit found in a dozen cans in his cellar he said was given him by Mrs. Schackleton, a former resident of this city. He admitted taking a trunk from some woodshed near the rear of the high school building. He did not know the name of the house. He also admitted taking several pieces of carpets from several homes.

Sentence Then Passed.

In passing sentence Judge Fifield said that a bad feature about Friend was the fact that he was supposed to be a good church, Y. M. C. A. and temperance worker and that all the time he was stealing under the guise of being a true christian. During Judge Fifield's talk Friend frequently interposed stating that he never pretended to be a good church member.

The essential principles of

OSTEOPATHY

Are that all bodily disorders are the result of mechanical obstruction to free circulation of the vital fluids and forces, and the continuity of nerve force. The impediments in the way of free fluid circulation and uninterrupted nerve force are found in osseous displacements, contracted muscles, ruptured ligaments, constricted or dilated vessels, or condition of tissues. These abnormal conditions represent not only the change in structure or function on the part of particular portions of the organism but also produce physiological disorganization of the vital forces of the body, producing an irritable condition either of over-stimulation, under stimulation or inhibition resulting in excessive activity, partial activity or inactivity of the vital forces and processes. In the restoration to the normal the main purpose in operative manipulation is to co-ordinate the vital forces, to restore harmony in the vital functions and thus aid Nature in the elimination and checking of diseased conditions.
